

Support Ohio Educators and Schools Act

Draft Narrative for Talking Points

Certain politicians in Ohio have taken aim at Ohio's educators by blaming and scapegoating them for problems real or imagined. Educators have always stood up for their professional rights so that students can have access to a high-quality education regardless of where they live.

As OEA continues the work of defending the rights of educators and students across the state, OEA is asking for your input in the development of new legislation designed to provide additional state support for educators and students in the following key areas:

- 1) Supporting the professional rights of educators.
- 2) Supporting high-quality instruction and student learning in the classroom.
- 3) Supporting access to health and wellness services that prepare students for learning.
